This little tip can open up a ton of knowledge for you!

Don't discount it! I've learned more things to do with this than you can shake a stick at!

Practice it for a couple weeks!

Wanna really mix it up?

Start on the B string and play what you'd normally play on the high E string. Now come up through the scale. When you get to the top E string, DON'T play those notes.

Instead, jump back down and play those B string notes again. Remember, you're replacing the High E and those notes are the same as the Low E. So, play the replacement notes again.

This creates a very unusual ending to the scale!
